Writing one's name upon a bid line for silent auction indicates bidder's responsibility for payment of said bid in full. Silent auction winners are determined by writing in name on the Buy it Now line. If no one has claimed the Buy it Now bid, the winner is determined by writing in their name for the last and highest bid for a package by the cut off 6:45 p.m. All silent auction winners must submit payment to PTSA upon receipt of items that night at the Spring Raffle and Auction.

Thank You to our FCES Community

A huge thank you to our parents and family members for generously donating time and money to our raffle baskets and silent auction items. The FCES community greatly appreciates the efforts and hours of work put in by all classroom raffle basket coordinators. A special thanks goes out to the teachers and staff at FCES for their awesome contributions and their support in making this night a huge success.

Special Recognition to....

The one and only Julie Luttinen! Julie has been the brains and brawn behind the FCES Raffle for years. Julie's knack for organization, creativity, communication, ability to listen and problem solve, attention to detail, and initiative to procure donations have been essential to these raffles being a success. Her talents and efforts are immeasurable and so greatly appreciated by the FCES community. As this will be Julie's last year organizing the raffle, we would like to say a huge thank you and best wishes for future endeavors. Julie, you will be missed!

Who better to take over these shoes for next year? Marie Riley! Marie has been shadowing Julie this year and has graciously offered to coordinate the raffle for next year. (And hopefully many more!) The FCES community is so lucky to have her expertise and talents for future raffles. Welcome aboard Marie!

It's All for the Kids

Take heart in knowing that the money we raise tonight will have a direct impact upon the overall education of our children. Money raised from tonight's event will be placed into a student enrichment fund to be used in the upcoming year for a variety of purposes. Your children will benefit from improvements to the playground. It is through the generosity of the FCES community that we will positively impact the lives and education of our kids, our future.
